machine with the built-in brain

As you know, it takes a while to learn to do something right—now long depends on what you're trying to do. The same goes for a piece of machinery—you've got to get the mechanical brains working right so the rest of the machine will do everything it's supposed to do.

Well, according to the toughest critics there are—our customers—the Lilliston Peanut Combine has the job down pat. As one peanut farmer put it—"there must be a built-in brain in the Lilliston that knows what has to be done to harvest peanuts. That kind of perfection can only come with years of experience."

Fifty-two years to be exact.

Of course, it didn't take half a century for us to deliver the kind of mechanical harvesting that works. Combines we made fourteen years ago are still doing the job they were made for. But you've really got to see what happens when the Lilliston takes the field. There's nothing like it.

FARM NEWS

Farm NEWS

BY TOM CASADY, CO. AGENT

MACK ARMOR, right, of Rt. 1, New Brockton, shows leafspot control he is getting by using copper-sulfur dust. Amor said "I think it's just as important to dust for leafspot as it is to use fertilizer." He plans to dust three more times.

O. P. NOBLES, left, of Kinston shows County Agent Tom Casady some badly diseased peanut plants. Nobles has lost approximately a third of his stand. Peanuts followed peanuts in this field. The County Agents office recommends that peanuts be planted in a rotation to lessen disease outbreak.

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK is July 19-25. Paul Martin, left, watches O. P. Nobles attach safety shields to the tractor power take-off. Coffee County farmers are busy using machinery now and will be more active as the harvest season gets underway. By following all safety rules farming can be much safer in Coffee County. Martin and Nobles live in Kinston.

H. C. Collier, of the quality will be excellent. The Community and other Duroc breeders in the Wiregrass have planned a Special Purebred Duroc Sale for Tuesday, August 4, in Elba.

J. K. McGilvray, Secretary-Treasurer of the Alabama Duroc Association, told me that 17 bred gilts will be offered along with 10 open gilts and 15 boars. I understand that the making plans to dust again. Mr. Armor had this to say about leafspot control, "I think controlling leafspot with copper-sulfur dust is just as necessary as fertilizing."

I enjoyed visiting with Mr. Armor. He is doing an excellent job of trying to produce high yields of peanuts, cotton, and corn.

Things are shaping up nicely for the annual meeting of the Coffee County Farm Bureau. President, Earl Brooks, told me the other day that they were expecting a large turnout for the annual meeting which is to be held July 30 at the New Brockton High School.

Program plans include a short speech on the work of Farm Bureau by a noted speaker, a Maid of Cotton contest, a Talent Contest, reports by J. E. Donaldson and Charles Goodson on Farm Bureau Insurance, the President's report, and other events.

If you are a Farm Bureau member, start making plans to attend this annual event.

The next two weeks are real important for Coffee County cotton producers. I have checked several cotton fields; and in some cases, the infestation is high. In other fields, not too much damage is being done. I want to emphasize the need for careful checking of boll weevil and bollworm infestation.

I think it is as simple as this: After checking your cotton, if you think a dusting program will make money for you, then by all means start your control program. On the other hand, if infestation is light, it probably won't pay you to dust. The only way to determine what is best for you, is to do some square counting to determine the amount of damage being done.

Several girls have entered the Coffee County Maid of Cotton contest. This contest is sponsored by the Alabama Farm Bureau and Auburn University Extension Service in cooperation with gunners, and textile manufacturers in the State.

I have been told that it is fairly easy to have a good garden in the spring and early summer, but that it took a real gardener to have vegetables in the fall and winter months.

With a little planning and some work, Coffee County farm people and lots of those living in town can have vegetables in the fall and winter. One of the main jobs is getting the land prepared and having several things to plant when we get rain in September and October.

July 19-25 is National Farm Safety Week. We use a lot of tractors and equipment in Coffee County. A lot of times when we are harvesting cotton, peanuts, or corn, we are not as careful as we should be and occasionally some of our good Coffee County people get hurt.

During this special week and throughout the harvest season, let's be mindful of the dangers in farming.

One thing you can do is to get the members of your family together during this week and review the safety set-up around your home or farm.

Mack Armor of New Brockton, Rt. 1, is doing an excellent job of controlling leafspot on his peanuts. He has dusted one time and is Fifty per cent of all cotton in U. S. is mechanically harvested.

Boll Weevil And Boll Worm Check Important

Coffee County farmers who grow cotton can spend some profitable hours right now by checking for boll weevil and bollworm damage with control measures. The next two weeks are very important in cotton production.

The county agents office recommends the following method to use in making an infestation count. For a boll weevil check walk through your field and pull 100 green squares. Pull some from the lower, middle and top of the stalk. In fields larger than ten acres pull 200 green squares. Then check each square carefully for boll weevil damage. If ten per cent of the green squares you pulled are punctured by weevils, you must dust three times five days apart. Then wait three or four days and pull squares again and if infestation is up to ten per cent repeat the three applications five days apart. Continuing this procedure until the top bolls are mature.

Later in the season when weevils begin migrating or swarming dust or spray every five days.

Coffee County growers who dust or spray to control boll weevils should be able to keep bollworms under control. Bollworm eggs are nearly white when first laid but within 24 to 36 hours a purplish brown band appears on the upper third of the larva. It is extremely important to control the very young worm since the half-grown or larger worms are very difficult to kill with insecticides.

When four or five young worms plus additional eggs are found per 100 terminals apply DDT or Endrin or Sevin at rate of 10-30 pounds of dust.

Farm Safety A Full Time Job

The average Coffee County farm is a comparatively safe place to live. But it remains a dangerous place to work.

Throughout the United States there were 8,700 farm residents killed in accidents in 1962.

Farming continues to rank as the third most hazardous occupation. Only mining, including quarrying and petroleum drilling, and construction have higher accidental death rates.

Motor vehicle, home and public accidents affect farm residents about as severely as other Americans. But work accidents, the smallest classification nationally, on the farm remain second only to motor vehicle accidents.

Safety procedures, developed in other industries, are as necessary on the farm as in other work if farm safety is to be brought into line with the rest of the nation.

Supervision of employees is much more difficult on the farm than in a factory. The worker often works alone and an unsafe act may go unnoticed and uncorrected.

Frequently the farm employee is a temporary help-an itinerant worker during the summer. Too often he lacks the proper training and knowledge to work safely.

The farm employer should make an extra effort to be sure that his workers understand their duties and the proper, safe way to operate equipment and handle the materials they use. It cannot be assumed that a high school student can operate a tractor because he has a driver's license-no matter how safe a driver he may be.

National Farm Safety Week, July 19-25, is a time when we examine the progress we are making.

Farm safety is a full-time job. We must work at all year round.

FARM AND 4-H Round-Up

If you are between the ages of 17-30 and have a talent, we would like for you to enter the talent contest. The only requirement other than age is that you be a Farm Bureau member (or at least your family must be a member). This contest will be held in connection with the Coffee County Farm Bureau annual meeting on Thursday, July 30, at the New Brockton High School. If you are interested in this contest, please let someone at the county agent's office or a Farm Bureau Director know as early as possible. The winner will be awarded an expense paid trip to Mobile to attend the State meeting this fall.

Eleven Coffee County 4-H'ers are attending the State 4-H Conference at Auburn University this week. We would like to express our thanks to all business and industry who are helping to make this trip possible.

I realize that we keep plugging leafspot and insect control. But I believe that it can increase profits and yields more than any other cultural practice. Due to the rains, many producers are not going to get 4 applications on. If State 4-H Conference this you have not put out an application yet, we suggest get back in time to write that you do so as early as this new column for next possible. Put out 25 lbs. per acre the first time and 20 lbs. thereafter. Put

It is a question of whether Tommy McAlley, Alabama or not you are going to Give Copper-Sulfur a try O.D. Lolley, is president of this recently organized 4-H Club. We are expecting the 24 members to be present this year.

I will be attending the ent.

Dean Bond, Peanut and Soybean Specialist, was in the county last week. He said that Toxaphene-DDT had been taken off the approved list of insecticides to use for worm control on soybeans. I believe the only insecticide recommended at the present time is Sevin. I hope that if you have soybeans, that you will make note of this change.

Later in the season when weevils begin migrating or swarming dust or spray every five days.

FROM OUR OLD FAMILY ALBUM...

What nostalgic memories this picture brings. Every Sunday morning we used to drive to Church in Pop's old "thru" picking up the Parson on the way.

Today I live in a great city. I ride commuter's trains, and dictate letters, and spend endless hours "in conference."

But I've never forgotten our Church in the field. It plowed deep furrows in my life, and planted the seeds of real happiness.

Now I worship in a big city church. You might think it would be different; but it isn't. Folks are just as friendly. The Truth is just the same. And God is just as close.

You see, in the country or in the city, Christians are conscientious people trying to be better. And for folks like you and me who worship God, the Church — big or little — is home.

TRAVELING ALABAMA

By Jim Hart

Helen Keller And Ivy Green

Shortly, President Johnson will present the Medal of Freedom to Helen Keller for her outstanding contribution to humanity and for the inspiration her life has offered to so many millions of Americans. This medal is the highest award that our country can present to a citizen. Miss Keller is one of 3 women and 25 men who will receive the Medal of Freedom.

The story of this great life is really a tragedy. She was struck with an illness at the age of two that left her blind and deaf. The great drama of how she overcame these terrible handicaps has been an inspiration to literally millions of people.

Today, through the cooperation of the Tusculum-Helen Keller Property Board and the State of Alabama, "Ivy Green" stands permanently enshrined as the birthplace of America's First Lady of Courage.

Although she was born 84 years ago, on June 27, 1880, there lives today the Helen Keller Shrine as a memorial to this great life of Alabama and it is a must for any tour into the northwestern part of our State. Situated in the charming old southern town of Tusculum amid magnolias and jamezines, "Ivy Green" is as quiet and charming as its setting. The house, which is open for visitors, is typically southern in style with a big square chimney, a large fireplace and high ceilings, thus presenting a reminder of the manner of living when "Ivy Green" was young. It was built in 1820 by Miss Keller's grandfather.

When you visit "Ivy Green" you'll see the room where Miss Keller was born, the kitchen and utensils where she ate, the cottage building that was converted into a tiny cottage home for her and the hand pump where she learned her first word, "water."

Here is where a little Alabama girl overcame insurmountable handicaps with one of the most courageous hearts and indomitable spirits in the annals of American history. A life that will inspire you for life.

Ask your local service station for Highway map and directions to "Ivy Green" at Tusculum.

Fairhope On The Bay

The City of Trees, Fairhope can rightfully be called Alabama's vacation paradise because it offers something of interest to everyone. Located on the eastern shore of Mobile Bay, just 30 minutes from Mobile, it sits on high ground over 100 feet above sea level and anything your vacationing heart desires can be found there.

The shores along this historic old bay have been resort grounds since the time of the Indians who first shared their game and fishing with the French, British and the Spanish. If it's sailing a boat, casting for mullet, fresh-water fishing, or just resting in the sun that you're looking for this weekend I'd suggest a trip down U. S. Highway 98 to Fairhope, Alabama.

Nearly in the same general area, just south of Fairhope, is Point Clear with its Grand Hotel on a landscaped peninsula with a majestic moss-draped tree that invites you to stop and rest for a while. This is the oven.

was recognized as a resort area over a hundred years ago because during the Civil War Days there was already a famous resort hotel at Point Clear and the shore was beginning to be lined with spacious, sprawling houses where the aristocracy of Mobile, and upriver, maintained summer homes. However, it was not until the 1920s that the area became a popular vacation spot. For your vacation this year let us suggest Alabama and any one of our hundreds of tourists and vacation spots. Particularly, we would suggest Fairhope and the Point Clear area for a weekend, a vacation or for a lifetime. It is truly one of Alabama's many star vacation values.

Bee And Wasp Stings Kill

Bee and wasp stings kill more people in this country than snake bites. During a recent five-year study, 215 human deaths were reported as caused by ants, bees and insects in the United States. Bees and wasps were accountable for 80 of these deaths. One authority states that more than half of the approximately 20 deaths a year attributable to arthropods, meaning mosquitoes, insects and spiders are caused by the sting of bees, wasps, yellow jackets, and hornets.

Bees and wasps have a posterior sting apparatus through which the venom or poison is injected into the skin of a person. In most cases there is some local inflammation and pain which disappears after a few minutes. However, in sensitive persons, the venom of these insects causes a severe allergic reaction known as anaphylaxis.

Important in the study of deaths due to bee and wasp stings is the determining the chemical composition of the venom in the insect. Whatever it is, scientists are agreed that bee venom is as potent, drop for drop, as rattlesnake venom. Persons who have had serious reactions to bee stings should be desensitized by a course of bee antigen, to prevent the possibility of subsequent serious sting reaction.

Try chopping the raisins for raisin cookies, but don't make them too fine. You'll find the flavor different from those cookies made with whole raisins.

Bobby sox can be dried quicker if a paper towel is jammed into the cuff of each sock. The air will circulate and hasten the drying.

Paper dollies between stacked plates and saucers will keep fine china from being scratched.

Wax applied to the outside of an ice-cube tray when it's completely dry will keep it from sticking to the freezer.

Baking soda as a cleanser will remove the transparency of the glass door in the oven.

High School All-Star Game August 14; New Brockton Player Participates

The probable tie-breaker in the colorful Alabama High School All-Star football series is scheduled for 7:45 P.M., Friday, August 14, at Tuscaloosa and, excluding a third tie game, the South or the North will take a slim lead in the classic series. Game 17, scheduled at the University of Alabama's Denny Stadium, will see the winner gaining victory number 8 of the series, which now stands at 7-2, so this 1964 game will offer added prestige for the winner.

Basketball All-Stars will meet for the 12th time on Thursday, August 13, at the Foster Auditorium. However, this year for the first time there will be an Alabama high school doubleheader since Alabama high schools completed their first season under the four classification system last March.

MRS. LAMAR WILSON DISPLAYS NIGHT BLOOMING CERESUS - Mrs. Lamar Wilson, of Elba, had the pleasure of enjoying two large blooms on her night blooming cereus last Tuesday night. The two upper blooms shown in the picture are the same as those at the bottom of the picture but enlarged for more detail and then inserted in the picture.

Mrs. Wilson was given the plant she has by the late Miss Louise Lundford about three and one-half years ago then a very small plant. This is the second time this plant has bloomed. It had three large waxy blooms last year. Mrs. Wilson said the plant must be two years old before it will bloom and only blooms at night once a year. There may be several blooms on the plant and they might all bloom the same night or they may all bloom at a different time.

The night blooming cereus is a member of the cacti family. About 1,000 cacti species have been named, varying greatly in form and size. Many curious and beautiful varieties are prized as houseplants, among them the "night-blooming cereus", whose lovely waxy blossoms open in a single night and wither at the approach of sunlight. The plant is a slender sprawling or climbing cactus that has ribbed stems and yellow spines which are often cultivated for its showy, white, strongly-scented flowers which are followed by yellow red-streaked fruit.

The blooms, varying from seven to eight inches across, are really beautiful but the fragrance is indescribable. It is so wonderful.

The night blooming cereus is a South American plant. Latin American natives call the plant "Holy Cactus" and believe it brings good luck and some of them are said to kneel by the flower for the few hours it is in bloom.
